

As a superintendent of a small, rural school e-rate has been the "make or break" funding for our technology needs. With all the mandated testing and 21st century online skills our technology needs are far outpacing our ability to provide for the student needs. I highly encourage e-rate funding increases so our students can have 21st century learning opportunities.